From the Yearbook Staff

A souvenir can be a pressed flower, or a theater ticket, but an ashtray, or other trinket taken in a rush is not a true souvenir. A souvenir must have meaning ... A memory you can see and touch.

A yearbook should be a souvenir. The experts define a yearbook as a "record" or "history", but actually it's much more personal than any of those glass-encased terms can imply. A truly valuable yearbook should evoke a feeling - perhaps a tingling - that transcends a physical memory ... what took place - to evolve into an emotional - mood.

The 1969 Longhorn Staff has tried to capture the mood of the moment. We invite whoever turns the pages of this book to remember the frivolous, frustrating, frantic, fantastic year of 1968-1969 and consider the LONGHORN a true souvenir.
